THE "SACRED SCHOOL FUND." Some Very Suspicious Facts Recently Developed.

How the Comptroller of Currency Failed in His Duty Towards the Tennessee National Bank.

An Allegation that He was Influenced by a Money Gratuity.

A Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune furnishes the following interesting developments:

You have already learned through your regular correspondent that the testimony in the case of Controller Hulburd, elicited before the Banking and Currency Committee of the House, has developed some very suspicious facts, and that the charges against Mr. Hulburd have taken a serious shape. Within a few days still more damaging ac cusations have come to light. It is now asserted that the Controller unlawfully supressed and failed to take action on the official report of Mr. John Bull, a National Bank Examiner, showing the condition of the Tennessee National Bank of Memphis requiring the appointment of a receiver and the winding up of the institution; and that the Controller was influenced in this action by money paid to him by George R. Rutter, the President of the Bank. The following is a copy of the report alluded to, omitting some unimportant parts; together with the tabular statement of resources and liabilities, and the more minute details given in the appendix and accompanying papers. The report is dated Aug. 24, 1866;

Examiner's report of the Tennessee National Bank of Memphis, located at Memphis, in the county of Shelby, State of Tennessee, Aug. 24, 1866. George R. Rutter, President; Walter S. Morgan, Cashier. * * * * Records. - Incomplete and imperfect. Election proceedings not recorded.

Directors .- It is very doubtful whether any of the persons now acting as Directors are legally such. This subject will be explained hereafter.

Dividends and Surplus .- The only divi dend declared was on the third of April last, and purported to be for tifteen per cent. No portion of the net earnings was carried to the surplus fund account as required by section thirty-three.

Lauful Money Reserve. - The lawful money reserve made necessary by the condition of the bank on the day of examinatien was $115,597.29; amount in bank, $98,527.17; amount with redeeming agent, $887.54; total $94,414,91, showing a deficiency of reserve of $21,282.00.

General Remarks—* The foregoing statement of the condition of the bank is as the same appears on the books of the bank. I submit it because it is impossible for me to make a correct one, which would balance. This, however, is erroneous in many important particulars. I shall proceed to point out wherein it is correct, and to make such explanations as are required. Items 1 and 3 of Resources.—My examination makes the "Loans and Discounts" and the "Suspended Debt" to fall short of the amounts given in the statement by the sum of $2,001.84. Two days' search has not enabled them to discover the error, if it be an error. Item 5 of Resources-"Overdrafts." —The two principal Items of overdrafts are one of J. W. Morrison for $8,199.14, and the other of John G. Owen for $18,043.70. Both of these are said to be secured by bilis of lading on cotton, shipped to Philadelphia, which bills of laden are in possession of Mr. Rutter, the president of the bank, who is absent at the North. Hereafter a full statement of the assets of the bank, which Mr. Rutter has taken away with him will be given, to which attention is particularly invited. A fall list of the overdrafts is inclosed herewith, marked "Appendix B." Rem 7 of Resources-"Due from other National Banks." This item is principally composed of an indebtedness from the National Bank of the metropolis, Washington, D. C., amounting to $618,250. It will be observed that this is precisely the amount received by the Tennessee National Bank on deposit, from the State of Tennessee. It was in fact the identical money and securities received by the Tennessee National Bank from the State of Tennessee as a deposit, and almost immediately thereafter, to-wit: On the 26th of June, 1866. loaned to the National Bank of the Metrop- the Cotton Exchange Board, the Commerolis of Washington, D. What the Boctors Say: Ames Woolley, M. D., of Koscinske county, indiana, says: "For three years past I have used Allen's Lune Balsam extensively in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use.

Isaac A. Doran, M. D., of Logan county, Ohio, says: "Allan's Lone Balsan not only sells rapidly, but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it, and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I treely that it in my daily practice, and will unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly ahead of any preparation I have ever jet known."

NATHANIAL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury,
Vermont, says: "I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remodial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Thront, Bronchial Tubes, and the Lungs."
Physicians do not recommend a medicine which
